Abstract: Socialist core values determine the essential attribute of socialist ideology with Chinese characteristics and lead the development direction of socialist advanced culture. Political thought education, as an important part of college curriculum education system, should be based on the core position of core values in contemporary social development, actively promote its integrated development in Contemporary College Political thought education, effectively improve the level of College Students' Political thought education and improve their political thought situation. At present, political thought education has gradually achieved good results in internalizing core values, but to some extent, there are still some problems, such as different knowledge and practice of teaching results, simple treatment of teaching contents, instrumentalization and inefficiency of teaching methods, mechanization and superficiality of teaching evaluation, etc. On the one hand, college students' recognition of core values needs "political thought education in curriculum" as the carrier; On the other hand, "core values" is the primary choice of "political thought education in curriculum". This paper systematically summarizes the current situation of student education management, and explores the key links of their mutual integration. The research results provide important theoretical reference and intellectual support for the management of college students.

1. Introduction

The core values are an embodiment of the spirit of the times condensed in the new era of China's great struggle with many new historical characteristics, promoting the great cause of socialism with Chinese characteristics, and comprehensively promoting the new great project of Party construction. With the improvement of the level of network sci & tech and the strengthening of the complex change trend of social and cultural environment, it has increased the difficulty for the smooth development of Political thought education in Institution of higher learning and affected the improvement of the political thought level of contemporary college students [1]. The promotion of College Students' sense of social responsibility, the improvement of creative ability, the cultivation of patriotism, and the establishment of scientific world outlook, outlook on life and values must rely on the guidance of social core values. Today, with the interweaving, infiltration and even conflict of multiple values, political thought education in institution of higher learning is out of touch with professional teaching. Simply or excessively relying on political thought courses to guide college students' values has increasingly highlighted its limitations. Doing a good job in the internalization of core values has become the key to the current political thought teaching reform in institution of higher learning [2]. Student management service realizes the information-based and efficient management and service for students, provides accurate, comprehensive and rich student information for political thought education in schools, better improves the working state of political thought education counselors, reduces the working pressure of political thought education counselors, and better enhances the effectiveness of political thought education [3].

Political thought education and student guidance education are important components of higher education, the focus of college students' management in China, and the important responsibility and mission of delivering high-quality talents to the society. Student management and teaching management are the main orientation of college students' education management, the key link to improve talents' training ability, and the basic guarantee to solve the fundamental problems of who, what kind and how to train people. Institution of higher learning should constantly strengthen the teaching of political thought education, feel the value contained in the educational documents promulgated and implemented by the national government, and fully implement them in the daily political thought education work [4]. The political thought education of college students has rich contents, including ideological education, values education, political education, Marxist theory education, as well as moral education, law and discipline education, psychological education, etc. we should choose the "Political thought content" of Political thought education in the curriculum, find the "fit point" between Political thought education and professional courses - core values, and strengthen the value guidance in Curriculum Teaching [5]. Putting the core values through the whole process of College Students' Political thought education is not only the basic requirement of strengthening the construction of socialist ideology, but also the mission of College Political thought work under the new situation. Institution of higher learning should actively explore the integration mechanism of core values and student management, make them cooperate closely, jointly promote talent training and serve the all-round development of students.

2. Analysis of the significance of the integration of core values in political thought education in institution of higher learning

In recent years, China's educational circles have put forward the strategic decision-making of the scientific outlook on development, focusing on people-oriented, which is the direct embodiment of Marxist theory in domestic economic development. Therefore, in the process of Political thought education and teaching in Institution of higher learning, we should fully implement the connotation of core values and fully respect the individual development of students [6]. In recent years, the recognition and cultivation of College Students' core values have made great progress in the education of core values in Institution of higher learning in the new era through public opinion publicity, educational guidance and activity edification. Socialist core values reflect the most basic and stable social relations and value pursuit of socialism, and play a central role in the long-term value system pursued and upheld by the Chinese nation. The recognition and cultivation of college students' core values is a "soul-building project" that gathers spirits and strengthens the foundation. It is a long-term and complex "strategic project" that cannot be accomplished overnight or once and for all. Today, for the political thought course, the fundamental requirement of "virtue" is to help college students transform the core values into their own intrinsic value norms. Political thought teaching should strengthen college students' value recognition by internalizing education, and accomplish the fundamental task of moral education.

The system of core values proposed by China is not only a theoretical basis, but also can reflect its theoretical value only when it is implemented in specific practice and transformed into an internal spiritual force. The integration of core values has attracted the attention of relevant leaders and management departments to the development of Political thought courses to a certain extent. At the same time, the implementation of teaching reform measures can effectively help college political thought educators and relevant departments of institution of higher learning more clearly understand the current international and domestic cultural integration and cultural invasion, and have a more accurate understanding of its negative impact. "Political thought education in curriculum" is an innovative educational concept, and it is also a systematic project. There are still many difficulties that need to be overcome to truly realize the organic integration of political thought education and curriculum. Political thought education is the fundamental guarantee and core link of students' education management, and plays an important role in students' establishment of correct outlook on life, career and values [7]. College students are the leaders of socialist cultural thoughts. They have received higher education and are the backbone of socialist modernization. Only when the core values system is realized in college students can it ensure that it provides a continuous source of strength for the people. How to effectively integrate political thought education with employment guidance education in institution of higher learning, so as to ensure that modern college students can better adapt to the rapid social development and fierce market competition, has become a research topic.

3. The problems of Political thought teaching in the internalization of core values education

At present, in the process of the development of political thought courses in institution of higher learning, the integration of core values with the teaching contents of political thought courses in contemporary institution of higher learning is low, which is one of the factors that affect the development of political thought courses in contemporary institution of higher learning. To strengthen and improve the political thought work in institution of higher learning under the new situation is inseparable from the core values, which is the spiritual banner to lead and guarantee the healthy growth and development of college students. In recent years, many institution of higher learning regard core values as one of the important contents of political thought education for students, and there are many problems in the actual implementation process. To strengthen the political thought education of college students, we should not only adopt the indoctrination method of "flooding with water", but also adopt the infiltration method of "subtle influence" [8]. Socialist core values, as the mainstream values in the current process of economic and social development, have a low degree of integration with the teaching content and poor humanity in the teaching practice of Political thought courses in Institution of higher learning, which has an impact on the development trend of Political thought courses in Institution of Higher Learning under the background of the new era of economic and social development. At present, the number of college students in China is increasing, and many decadent ideas are produced, which greatly restricts the realization of the function of campus culture. Therefore, the implementation effect of Political thought education with core values as the main content is not satisfactory.

In recent years, the competition between China and other countries has become increasingly fierce. In this environment, many countries put forward the strategic decision of rejuvenating the country through talents and science and education, and at the same time pay close attention to the political thought education in institution of higher learning. In fact, institution of higher learning are the key bases and platforms for cultivating students into qualified socialist talents, and shoulder the important mission of education. On the one hand, political thought education in institution of higher learning is the inherent requirement of students' development; on the other hand, it is an inevitable choice to achieve the educational goals of institution of higher learning. The existing teaching evaluation focuses on the assessment of content cognition, and pays insufficient attention to values, which makes the guiding ideology and scheme formulation of evaluation not scientific and perfect [9]. The low integration of core values and the teaching content of Political thought courses leads to many problems such as inflexible application and insensitive transformation of Political thought teaching modes, concepts and ideas when some teachers carry out corresponding teaching activities, especially the derailment between teaching practice and teaching ideas, which affects the quality of Political thought teaching in Institution of higher learning. From the perspective of how to run through, integrate and integrate the core values into college students' Political thought education, on the one hand, we should strengthen theoretical education to make college students' recognition of core values more comprehensive and systematic; On the other hand, we should promote social practice education to make college students' understanding of core values more specific and vivid

4. Integration of political thought education and student management in institution of higher learning

Institution of higher learning should always adhere to the higher education school running concept of "moral education first and education oriented", that is to integrate the cultivation of core values into the whole process of talent cultivation, adhere to using core values to guide knowledge education and integrate into all links of curriculum teaching, so that students can not only learn professional knowledge, but also become their basic compliance with core values, so as to realize the goal of Building Morality and cultivating people in Institution of higher learning. The educational internalization of values contains a orientation and adjustment process of cognition, identification, belief and practice under the influence of environment and education guidance, which implies complex psychological mechanism. The organic integration of "skill" and "Tao" in the cultivation of core values and professional skills can greatly broaden the width and length of core values education. It is a new trend to strengthen political thought education of college students by using network media. Only by combining traditional advantages with new media technology, and making the education of core values "new", can we improve college students' ability to distinguish right from wrong and resist wrong thoughts in a subtle and silent way, so as to establish a correct world outlook, outlook on life and values. In practice, we should make clear the goal of political thought education [10]. The structure of college students' political thought education management system and the relationship between its ten subsystems are shown in Figure 1. In the process of integrating political thought education with student management, we should make the goal of political thought education more specific, so as to facilitate teachers' teaching and students' absorption. We should take ideals and beliefs as the core and cultivate students' clear political orientation.

The application of student management service system and platform to political thought education can make it more advanced and effective. At present, college student management should first pay attention to the improvement of student management system. The improvement of student management system is the basis of strengthening school management. At present, the student management of domestic institution of higher learning can basically be student-oriented and develop a practical, feasible and scientific route in line with the reality of the University. Under the scientific, advanced and comprehensive student management service information system, the record of students' learning and living state can be realized through advanced network technology. Political thought educators can learn students' psychological state and emotion through campus network and other management service information platforms. In the process of political thought education and student education management, we should pay attention to the combination of various methods, pay attention to the level and innovation of teaching, avoid the blunt classroom teaching mode, strengthen the indirect flexibility and pertinence of the classroom, do more campus lectures or speeches, increase investigation and research, pay attention to current events, and enhance the timeliness of political thought education. Further improve students' learning enthusiasm. At present, institution of higher learning combine the information system of student management service with the political thought education under the background of core values, which can track and observe students' real-time psychological state in the process of receiving education from a multi-dimensional perspective, understand the degree of transformation of students' ideological cognition, and effectively promote students' ideological transformation by accurately grasping each detail, thus improving the effectiveness and advancement of political thought education.

5. Conclusions

Political thought quality is one of the important standards to measure the comprehensive quality of contemporary college students at this stage. Guided by the core values, the integrated development of Political thought education courses in Institution of higher learning can maximize the development level of Political thought education in Institution of higher learning. China's higher education has made gratifying development achievements. Under such a development situation, institution of higher learning must firmly grasp the direction of socialist advanced culture and adopt diversified teaching strategies to comprehensively carry out the political thought education of college students. The student management information service system platform helps the school's political thought education for students, and can provide political thought educators with accurate, comprehensive and complete basic information of students, so as to better realize the communication and interaction between teachers and students and enhance the scientificity and effectiveness of Political thought education. Under the overall goal of talent cultivation, student management and teaching management should constantly innovate management and service mode, optimize work flow, create a good environment for service education and practice education through an effective integration mechanism, explore an education system suitable for students' growth, form a benign development of both work, and cultivate more outstanding talents for the socialist cause.
