As we all know, the population of ethnic minorities in our country is large and widely distributed, and all ethnic groups have their own cultural characteristics and their own sports content, which has become a beautiful landscape in our country. In some minority areas of China, the natural environment is more beautiful and the ecological resources are abundant, which is very suitable for the development of tourism industry. However, in some minority areas, people know little about the local area and have a weak desire for tourism, and the development of local tourism industry has not been well developed [1]. As the people of our country pay more and more attention to sports, the ethnic minorities can also develop their own tourism industry, attract more tourists to visit, and effectively improve the local economic benefits according to their own national sports characteristics and with the help of the "national sports tourism ". However, the sports tourism project of ethnic minorities in our country is still in the initial stage of development, no matter from the scale or service level, there are some defects, we will do a more in-depth study on this, to find the way to the economic development of sports tourism of ethnic minorities.

Tourism, as a tertiary industry, plays an important role in the economic development of our country. Sports tourism for ethnic minorities provides new ideas and innovations for China's economic development. With the help of the numerous characteristics of ethnic minorities in China, the development of sports tourism for ethnic minorities can not only make the region's economy develop for a long time and improve the quality of life of ethnic minorities, but also help the country's economic structure to achieve a better transformation and help the Chinese economy achieve a better development. In a nutshell, China's development of sports tourism for ethnic minorities has first provided a new innovation point for China's economic development, optimized the industrial structure of various ethnic minority areas, allowed such areas as Inner Mongolia and Xinjiang, which mainly rely on the primary industry to develop their economies, gradually realized the plan of transition to the tertiary industry, achieved economic progress in ethnic minority areas, and made certain contributions to the unity of all ethnic groups. Secondly, sports tourism for ethnic minorities can attract more foreign friends to visit China, understand China, enhance its worldwide popularity, promote the effective dissemination of Chinese culture in the world, and make some contributions to the promotion of China's international status [2]. In addition, with the continuous improvement of the economic development of ethnic minority sports tourism, the relevant cultural system and policies in the region will be further reformed, the people-oriented core management concept will be more respected, and more reasonable management strategies will be gradually summarized in the process of development to further realize the overall healthy development of the ethnic areas. Finally, the development of the ethnic minority sports tourism economy is also conducive to the mutual communication and communication among the various ethnic groups, and it is easier to form a cultural identity among the various ethnic groups, and has a deeper understanding of Chinese culture and more conducive to the inheritance of traditional culture.

The economic development of minority sports tourism is still a relatively new term for some minority areas, most of the minority areas do not realize the attraction of their own traditional sports to tourists, the degree of development of minority sports tourism is relatively shallow, there is no in-depth study of their own core advantages of traditional sports projects, and no effective publicity has been achieved, some areas have carried out a certain integration of minority sports and tourism in a timely manner, but the integration of content is relatively small, and the formation of a certain scale, can not express the profound connotation, tourists are generally not interested, Although there is a good natural scenery in the minority areas, the lack of propaganda ability, the lack of scientific and systematic management ability and the lack of attention to the development of the minority sports tourism economy together restrict the development of the local sports tourism economy [4].

Poor infrastructure in most minority areas

Although the development of ethnic minority sports tourism industry can attract some tourists, but want tourists to play well, can better feel the customs of ethnic minorities, the region's social and economic development is also an extremely important factor. There is no standardized market for traditional ethnic sports in most minority areas

In the process of transforming traditional national sports into market management, the management of traditional national sports is still in the groping stage, and the marketing ability can not be reflected. In this situation, the minority areas can not understand the actual needs of tourists more accurately, nor will they bring forth new ideas to the traditional sports of ethnic minorities, and the overall vitality of sports tourism of ethnic minorities is not strong [5]. In addition, traditional sports tourism in minority areas as a new thing, there are still many deficiencies in the process of legislative construction, there is no national level of special management regulations to restrain, the national sports tourism market is very chaotic.
