Abstract: Most governments in our country need to improve the corresponding management level in financial investment and responsibility implementation. Because only by raising the level of management to a certain extent can we effectively realize the optimization of resources, and the government procurement plan can also proceed smoothly. This paper mainly focuses on the study of government responsibility and implementation path of rural financial investment income, hoping to bring some help to the implementation of government financial investment and responsibility.

1. Foreword

At present, it is very important for the government to innovate in the current wave of economic reform. A reasonable and effective way to invest funds can not only help the government to manage its employees well, but also help the rural economy to get rapid development. Government budget content also covers many aspects, procurement budget is an important task of government budget. Because it can improve budget management and budget transparency, and achieve the scientific management of the budget. However, there are still some problems in government financial investment. Therefore, the government needs to come up with specific solutions to improve the management of the procurement budget.

2. Problems in the Implementation of the Government's Rural Financial Investment and Responsibility

2.1. Low Quality of Government Financial Investment

Because our country is in the economic reform system at present, most of the government funds input work did not conform to the trend of the times and made corresponding adjustments, resulting in the whole investment work is difficult to carry out, into a difficult situation. Most of the government in the preparation of public procurement budget, basically there is a problem of competitive allocation of funds, some government procurement project budget preparation is rough branch, because of the high project positioning requirements, often lead to procurement problems difficult to monitor, resulting in a large waste of resources[1]. As an important part of the budget of the Ministry, the public procurement budget should be prepared at the same time as the budget of the Ministry, but in the actual preparation process, agencies usually organize government procurement budgets. In addition, the effect of this approach is difficult to achieve public procurement objectives and to be specific to every detail.

2.2. Insufficient Awareness of Government Procurement Budget

Some Governments do not have a deep understanding of the procurement system and a lack of understanding of the role and importance of the government procurement system, thus neglecting many important parts in the preparation of procurement budgets. The development of public procurement budgets by Governments also requires cooperation between the financial sector and other public institutions, which is in line with the basic needs of Governments for procurement budgets. However, in the current situation, the public government is responsible for the public procurement budget of the finance department, because there is no corresponding communication between the finance department and the business department, so the procurement items that often occur public financial investment and actual needs are not recorded in the budget.

2.3. Inadequate Control Over Government Procurement Budget

Some governments in China still have a lot of problems in the procurement budget control mechanism, the most prominent problem is that the implementation process control of procurement projects is not used, resulting in the budget effect has not reached the expected effect, resulting in a series of unreasonable procurement phenomenon[2]The main reason for these problems is that the management of the procurement organization is meaningless. If these agencies are not public procurement agencies, almost all procurement staff are under the sole responsibility of other departments, so there is also negligence and lack of dedication to their own work. Second, the rules and regulations governing procurement management were unwise. The lack of practical experience in most Governments and the lack of designation of relevant procurement management systems in line with the Government have created problems such as the difficulty of conducting procurement activities.

3. Recommendations on Strengthening Government Financial Investment and Responsibility Implementation

3.1. Enhanced Quality Control of Government Financial Investment

While improving the quality control of the public procurement budget, it is also necessary to enable the budget preparation to meet the corresponding government standards. First, it is subject to national policy, since financial investment is a core component of the Government, so it is important to meet the standards of the current national policy and to prepare the budget according to the specific work indicators and working conditions of the Government, which can improve the overall quality of budget preparation. It is also important that the main content be based on departmental budget standards[3]. The contents of the budget which are related to the government procurement budget must be improved according to the relevant regulations and requirements. Furthermore, the budget must be prepared on a case-by-case basis. In the government procurement budget items, we should do a good job of investigation, but also in order to achieve goal two divorced from reality.

3.2. Increased Emphasis on Government Financial Investment

If we want to perfect the government procurement budget organization, we must do a good job in the government financial management of the government procurement budget, first of all, we must build the corresponding management mechanism, coordinate and handle the relationship between the various departments, and improve the government procurement budget twice. When there are different methods of communication between departments, they can learn from each other, monitor each other and participate actively only in the formulation and implementation of the budget[4]. The financial sector is the most important sector, so we should pay special attention to its financial investment so as not to cause the loss and waste of financial resources as far as possible. In addition, the financial department should cooperate well with other departments to make the budget under scientific and reasonable formulation.

3.3. Sound Government Procurement Budget Regulatory Mechanism

Government procurement budget management is an important part of financial institutions. In order to effectively improve the level of supervision and management, the government can set up a special procurement organization to help the financial department to prepare and implement the procurement budget. At the same time, the Procurement Group should also establish rules and regulations relating to overcalculation of government procurement, including: first, determining the type of procurement according to management and approving the corresponding procurement authority. Second, in order to strengthen the management system of government procurement budget, the relevant business departments should strictly abide by the relevant regulations of government procurement list and government approval, which should be carried out in strict accordance with the process[5]. Third, according to the budget preparation plan of the approving department to carry out the corresponding activities, so as to ensure the smooth development of the procurement budget work. Fourth, we should make great efforts to build and improve the relevant procurement examination and approval system, and check clearly in the accounts, and each expenditure and income should be recorded accordingly. For the whole budget procurement content, according to the budget standards to handle the corresponding procurement procedures, adjust the budget procurement items.

3.4. Establish the Correct Socialist Core Values so as to Promote Government Development in an All-Round Way

General Secretary Xi Jinping once stressed in the national propaganda and ideological work : " propaganda and ideological work is to consolidate the guiding position of Marxism in the ideological field and consolidate the common ideological basis for the unity and struggle of the whole party and the people ." If the government wants to maintain the internal staff's ideology, it should proceed from the actual idea of the party and the country, and strive to achieve the unity of the government's cultural concept and the national value concept, so as to promote the development of the government's economic work. Using scientific and advanced core values to improve the values and ideas of government employees, using the core position of Marxism in government management culture, to promote government employees to treat their work with the mentality of unity and fraternity and active struggle. It can also effectively enhance their cultural connotation, strengthen their sense of social responsibility and employee responsibility, so as to promote government reform and innovation faster and better, so that the government can move forward bravely in economic development.

3.5. Creating Good Policy Guarantees for Government Economic Work

The relevant departments of the state should carry out specific guidance and planning according to the present situation of the government and give effective guidance on the original economic basis of the government, so as to ensure the smooth development of the government's economic work and establish a good structure and operation system of the government, so as to correctly guide the government's economic work.

3.6. Establishment of Standardized and Standardized Management Mechanisms Within the Government

The establishment of standardized and standardized management mechanism within the government is a necessary way to strengthen the management system. In the management work, the government should take the innovation and transformation of the management mechanism and management system as the premise to perfect the relevant system of management work, deepen the relevant system in the management work, so as to establish the responsibility mechanism of standardization and standardization. Under the premise of scientific division of labor and system integration, the professional level of management is improved, so as to establish a new model of standardization and standardization of management system. Strengthen the work enthusiasm and enthusiasm of management staff, only by improving their willingness to work can promote the better development of management system. Under the premise of standardization and standardization of management work, a more consistent management system and a good platform condition foundation are established for the government.

4. Conclusion

All in all, our government still has a lot of problems in the process of financial investment and responsibility implementation, which should be analyzed according to the specific problems, and then put forward the relevant solutions according to the results of the analysis. According to this research, in the implementation of procurement budget and responsibility, the financial management system of all institutions and governments needs to improve and strengthen the relevant systems according to the development characteristics of the government itself and according to the prevailing trends in today's society. As the leading and management level of the government, we should play a leading role and pay attention to the government financial management system. Improve the government's various systems and accelerate the development of the government.
