Abstract: The Communist Party of China (CPC) has always attached importance to strengthening party building through party spirit cultivation and education. In the revolutionary war era, the Party carried out Party spirit education by strengthening theoretical study, developing democratic life, paying attention to practical training and strengthening Party spirit cultivation. Party history education is of great significance to the party building work in China, which can not only strengthen the party's faith and improve the party's political quality, but also serve the emptiness and boredom of ideological education. It has unique advantages to use party history resources to carry out party spirit education and teaching. In the party spirit education, how to make good use of party history resources and further improve the quality of party spirit education is an important subject to be studied and promoted urgently. Based on the characteristics and laws of Party spirit, this paper explores the theoretical and practical issues related to the times and scientificization of Party spirit education, and analyzes the value and exertion of Party history resources in Party spirit education, with a view to deeply studying the thinking mode under Party spirit education in the new period.

1. Introduction

College students are the main force of economic and social development and the practitioner and witness of the great Chinese dream. College student party members, as the elite among college students, are the reserve force of Party members and cadres and the important backbone to complete the great historical mission of the new era [1]. Party spirit education is the core of inner-party ideological education. Party organizations at all levels undertake the arduous task of party spirit education. No political party in the world attaches so much importance to cadre education and training as the Communist Party of China. As early as the revolutionary war, our Party established party schools and various cadre schools to carry out cadre education and training [2]. In party spirit education, how to make good use of, activate and make full use of party history resources to further improve the quality of party spirit education is an important subject to be studied and promoted [3]. Cadre education and training has greatly promoted the construction of cadre team, made us better solve the problems in all aspects of reform, development and stability, properly handled various complex contradictions, and effectively promoted the continuous progress and development of national economy and social undertakings [4]. In order to meet the requirements of the party history work at the present stage, we must improve the party history plan, continuously enhance the students' Party spirit cultivation and establish a correct world outlook and life concept in the process of learning party history.

Party history education is of great significance to China's party construction. It can not only strengthen the party's faith and improve the party's political literacy, but also make ideological education empty and boring [5]. In the new period of reform and opening up, our party has improved the ideological and political quality and duty performance ability of cadres by strengthening the education and training of cadres' ideals and beliefs and ruling ability, unifying ideological understanding and tempering strong party spirit [6]. Strengthen the party spirit education for college students in the new era, comply with the law of College Students' growth, comply with the direction of socialist school running, and meet the overall requirements of Party construction and connotative development of higher education in the new era [7]. The rich historical experience and profound historical lessons accumulated by the Communist Party of China during the period of revolution and construction provide rich materials and endless spiritual wealth for strengthening the party spirit education of leading cadres today. Using party history resources to carry out party spirit education and teaching has unique advantages [8]. Through the characteristics and laws of party spirit, this paper intends to explore the relevant theoretical and practical problems of the times and scientization of party spirit education, and analyze the value and play of party history resources in party spirit education, in order to deeply study the way of thinking under Party spirit education in the new era.

2. The significance of strengthening the party spirit education of College Students' Party members and the needs of the times

2.1. The content of party spirit education should follow up the requirements of the times

Party spirit is the highest and most concentrated expression of a political party's class nature, and it is an important condition for us to measure whether a party member is qualified or not. Although the basic connotation of party spirit is consistent and unchangeable, in terms of its specific forms and characteristics, it is constantly developing, enriching and improving with the changes of the objective environment and the party's own situation. Therefore, in order to strengthen party spirit education under the complicated new situation, we must carefully analyze the background of the times, objectively grasp the practical basis and characteristics of the times on which the concept of party spirit is generated and the party spirit education is effectively carried out, and embody the epochal nature of party spirit education in terms of educational content, methods and means. College students' party spirit education is to adhere to the goal of party spirit education, strive to achieve a high ideological and political level, enhance the actual effect of party spirit education, and fundamentally solve the current situation that party spirit education is empty and untrue [9]. As university student workers, we should realize the importance of ideological education and party spirit education of college student party members, and ensure that the party spirit education of college student party members does not fall into the quagmire of formalism and purpose alienation. The history of the Communist Party of China is a history in which the Communist Party of China people constantly emancipate their minds, seek truth from facts, and dare to explore in order to realize their initial intentions and missions. It contains rich theoretical education, ideal and belief education, purpose consciousness education, party constitution and discipline education, political ethics and political ability education, and is a valuable resource for party spirit education.

2.2. The methods of party spirit education should be full of the characteristics of the times

College student party members actively participate in great practice, safeguard the authority of the CPC Central Committee, combine their personal dreams and goals with the Chinese dream of national rejuvenation, aim high and realize their own ideals and beliefs and life values. Party spirit of CPC is the belief concept, organizational discipline, fine style, acting principle, etc. which CPC, as the vanguard and the leading core of the cause of the party and the state, has gradually formed and kept pace with the times in the long-term revolution, construction and development, and is an important embodiment of the socialist core values. The whole history of the Party's theoretical development proves that only by adhering to the unity of theory and practice can it effectively play a great role in dispelling doubts and doubts, concentrating and leading progress. Learning the party's theory from the party's historical experience and grasping the theory from a large number of historical materials are beneficial for party members and cadres to enhance their consciousness of arming themselves with theory, deepen their understanding of the party's ruling law, the law of socialist construction and the law of human social development, and always maintain their political determination. Only by making good use of party history resources and carrying out open and intuitive party spirit education, can the educated feel immersive, encourage them to better inherit the red genes, and strengthen their road confidence, theoretical confidence, institutional confidence and cultural confidence in following the socialist road with Chinese characteristics.

3. Methods and suggestions on consolidating the effectiveness of party spirit education for college student party members in the new era

3.1. Establish scientific teaching concept

Party spirit education involves a series of educational ideas, including revolutionary traditional educational ideas, legal thinking teaching ideas, moral thinking teaching ideas, etc. in the cultivation of party spirit quality, we must vigorously advocate party spirit education and party rules and discipline education. The scientization of party spirit education for cadres is an inevitable requirement for the scientization of Party construction. To promote the scientization of party spirit education, we must adhere to the coordination and scientization of the content and form of party spirit education. Only the scientization of content, without the coordination of form, can not achieve the expected results. In the process of party spirit education, it is necessary to do well the on-site education of party history, which requires a series of party history activities, so as to enhance the students' Party spirit and pay full attention to the necessity of on-site teaching of party history. In the traditional teaching environment, the teaching classroom is often closed, and the teaching strategy is biased towards unilateral educational indoctrination. In order to enhance the teaching level, we must establish a scientific educational concept, so as to ensure the flexibility and effectiveness of the on-site teaching of party history and realize the combination of situation and scene in the on-site teaching [10]. Compared with the scientific form, the scientific content is of decisive significance to the scientific party spirit education. Under the new situation that the current world situation, national conditions and the party situation have changed and will continue to change, to better promote the scientization of the content of party spirit education, we must take the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics as the guidance, deeply summarize experience, deeply analyze problems, deepen the understanding of the law of party spirit education, and highlight the key points, so as to continuously improve the scientific level of the content of party spirit education.

3.2. Improve the preciseness of teaching links

Party history education is the key point of party history teaching at present, and the review of party history is the key point of improving students' party spirit. Judging from many students' knowledge reserves, some students lack in-depth understanding of the Party's history, so they must firmly go back to the historical process, so as to guide students to understand the necessity of studying the Party history and effectively enhance the initiative of the Party history. Inspired by ideals and beliefs, CPC has risen again and again after repeated setbacks, won the victory of the new-democratic revolution, established the basic socialist system, started the reform and opening up, opened up the road of socialism with Chinese characteristics, and completely changed the destiny of the Chinese people. Educating people with the glorious history and great achievements of the Party will strengthen the communist ideals of the new CPC people and the broad masses of the people and the belief in building socialism with Chinese characteristics. In the education of party history, teachers should provide students with a series of spiritual experiences and create ideal teaching atmosphere. In the field teaching of party history, we should make good use of the influence of leaders and martyrs to improve the students' spiritual quality and realize their spiritual essence. Strict organizational discipline is the guarantee to realize the unity and unity of the party, the important guarantee to implement the party's line, principles and policies, and the important guarantee for the party and the army to win the masses and move toward victory. Strengthening the construction of inner-party political culture with resources and creating a positive and healthy inner-party political culture are the inevitable requirements for maintaining the advanced nature and purity of proletarian political parties, and are the fundamental actions for deepening the comprehensive and strict administration of the party.

3.3. Grasp the correctness of teaching principles

In order to enhance students' overall party spirit cultivation, correct teaching principles must be followed. Party spirit education is an important means to enhance the cultivation of Communists, which is the key to enhance the overall cultivation of Communists. In the teaching process, it is necessary to internalize the party history, and refine the party history in order to educate party members with history and enhance the party spirit of students. In the process of internalizing party history, it is necessary to do a good job of on-the-spot comment to realize the combination of students' thoughts and work practice, which requires a good job of on-the-spot analysis of party spirit, so as to meet the requirements of on-the-spot teaching of party history at present, contact the work and thoughts of party members, find out the solutions to existing problems, and internalize the learned party history knowledge into a behavior habit. It is of great practical significance to dig deep into the connotation of political culture in the history of the Party to inspire party members and cadres to keep the political nature of the Communists, stick to their spiritual home, Do not forget your initiative mind and move on. In the party spirit education, students must be guided to constantly improve their spiritual realm and internalize the party's culture into personal beliefs and principles. In the teaching of party history, teachers should fully implement the principle of party history review, establish the teaching idea of taking students as the main body, do a good job of teaching leading, ensure the high level of teaching review and enhance the experience level of party spirit education. In the process of on-site comment, teachers should grasp the scientific nature of party history study, enhance students' experience of party history, avoid indulging in historical stories, pay attention to the details of party history, and realize the effective combination of party history and party spirit.

4. Conclusions

With the advent of the information age, it is impossible to stick to the traditional working mode by using the resources of party history to carry out party spirit education. Instead, we must broaden our thinking, design new carriers and actively explore ways to develop in the direction of electronization and networking. In the new era, the work of party history should have a new atmosphere and new achievements. Party schools at all levels, party history departments and party history workers should give full play to the important role of party history work in strengthening party building and promoting the progress of the times. Party spirit education is a process of promoting the inner self-growth of party members and leading cadres, and its effectiveness should be realized by students playing their main role. In the teaching of party history, teachers should fully implement the principle of party history review, establish the teaching idea of taking students as the main body, do a good job of teaching leading, ensure the high level of teaching review and enhance the experience level of party spirit education. To strengthen the education of party history, we should not only let the majority of party members know the glory and greatness of the party, but also learn from it and learn from its experience. In order to promote the effectiveness and rule of law of party spirit education at present, teachers must fulfill the corresponding teaching principles, ensure the advancement, scientificity and effectiveness of party history education, and realize the comprehensive enhancement of students' party spirit cultivation.
