1. Introduction

The essence of Traditional Chinese culture is rich in the characteristics of bright times and profound national deposits, rich in cultural connotation and diversified forms of expression. It is an important representative of advanced socialist culture and provides valuable resources for universities to realize the function of education [1]. Our party has always put the youth as the main force of the development of the cause of the party and the people, college students as one of the main body of youth, only trying to be a have ideal, have pursuit, have bear, as, quality, has the tutelage of the six have youth, overall cover "cultivate one's morality, terms, governing the country, flat world" and so on several big aspects. Good family education promotes the formation and perfection of The Character of the Chinese nation and still has important political thought education significance at present. The integration of traditional Chinese family style family education into college students' political thought education can not only enrich the content of political thought education in institution of higher learning, but also deepen college students' understanding of traditional family style family education, and further inherit and carry forward the excellent traditional Chinese culture. No matter how much life pattern changes, we should attach importance to family construction [2]. In today's increasingly significant difference and personalized, the topic of family family education can cause a lot of people's attention, which shows that it is really close to people's needs. Giving full play to its role in political thought education not only accords with the development law of excellent traditional Chinese culture, but also accords with the internal requirements of students' own development. College students' values, psychological state, mode of thinking, behavior habits and life attitude are also changing. To guide college students to grow up, we need to do a solid job in political thought education. Throughout the whole process of education and teaching in institution of higher learning, moral cultivation is undoubtedly the top priority, which we must be clear about, which also further defines the direction of political thought education in institution of higher learning [3].

2. The connotation of integrating excellent traditional culture into political thought education in institution of higher learning

2.1 The duality of Chinese traditional culture and the development and development of its essence

The tradition of excellent Chinese family education is rooted in the profound social and historical accumulation, and is the micro carrier of the moral spirit, ethical norms and customs of the Chinese nation [4]. Along with the accelerating of the globalization process, the western ideology is increasingly penetrated into the social culture of China, make people appeared in such aspects as ideology, cultural values individuality difference, ideal conviction, to Chinese traditional culture as a carrier of the political thought education, must be clearly recognizing the rich connotation of Chinese traditional culture, Everything has two opposite each other at the same time the nature of the college students are the backbone of the country, is the future of the country and the excellent start-up family education and college students' political thought education organically, to better promote the university students to establish correct "through", is beneficial to train the college students into "four haves" new socialist construction need. Excellent family family education is the precious spiritual and cultural wealth of the Chinese nation. It is of great significance to integrate excellent family education into the political thought education of college students and the current family construction. Excellent Family education in China is related to every aspect of our lives [5]. In the moral, etiquette, values and other aspects of every child, a good family education is vital to children's life. Make full use of the key effect of political thought basic course teaching, and gradually bring the excellent traditional Chinese culture education content into the teaching examination syllabus and teaching plan, so that college students really understand the connotation of excellent traditional Chinese culture and the value of the new era. Therefore, this legacy can neither be completely abandoned nor completely adopted, but must discard its dross, take its essence, critically inherit, bring forth the new and create a new socialist modern culture in China [6]." Whether it is necessary to integrate the excellent Traditional Chinese family traditions into the political thought education of college students is investigated in Figure 1.

2.2 The essence of Traditional Chinese culture

The essence of Chinese traditional culture can be roughly summarized into six aspects. Some college students even lose their sense of social responsibility and basic moral accomplishment. Facing the challenges and impacts brought by globalization, informatization and deepening social transformation, the connotation and characteristics of Chinese excellent traditional culture determine its important influence on political thought education in institution of higher learning. In the long history of Chinese civilization, family style and family education have never been interrupted after the changes of several dynasties, which constitute the unique family and country feelings and national spirit of the Chinese nation [7]. The family is the basic unit of society, and it is the beginning of a student's education. Family education and higher education in institution of higher learning are complementary to each other. Compared with political thought education of college students, the content of excellent family family education is more specific, and its diversity enables us to refine many different norms applicable to more people. The excellent traditional Chinese family education plays a vital role in the process of personal growth, allowing children to imperceptibly inherit good manners through their parents' words and deeds, and shaping the ideological character of each generation of family members. It is of great significance to further improve the education system of moral cultivation and provide more excellent successors for the construction of socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era by integrating traditional Chinese excellent family education traditions into the ideological and moral cultivation classes of primary school students and political thought education classes of college students [8]. By incorporating excellent traditional Chinese culture into the teaching of science and technology major, students can have a more comprehensive and multi-angle grasp of the emergence and development trend of the technology major, and improve students' thinking on the value of excellent traditional culture in the major.

3. The outstanding value of traditional culture in political thought education in institution of higher learning

3.1 Enrich educational resources and provide theoretical support

China's excellent traditional culture is produced by the continuous accumulation and development of thousands of years of civilized behavior, many of which are worth learning and learning, but also effective educational resources in today's political thought classroom teaching. Encourage mutually beneficial coexistence in social interaction, advocate universal love and compatibility in dealing with social contradictions, advocate unremitting self-improvement in career attitude, and pursue "repairing qi and governing Peace" in the establishment of personal ideals and beliefs [9]. The fine traditional Chinese culture guides the direction of China's moral development and embodies core socialist values. It is a valuable asset of the Chinese nation and provides spiritual support for realizing the great Chinese Dream. Although The Times keep moving forward, the theoretical basis of family style family education is still relatively independent and stable, which also determines the independence of family style family education. Non-family members have no right to interfere in family style family education. Excellent traditional Chinese family education bears the moral spirit, ethical norms, customs and habits of the Chinese nation. The reason why many families have remained prosperous through successive dynasties must be inseparable from excellent family education. To the individual has the promotion effect of osmosis. Meng's mother broke off the machine to teach children, teach children only perseverance, can achieve something; Tao mother circle retreat fermented, teach children integrity is the greatest wealth of officials; The ancient scholastic families taught their children to "cultivate morality, order the family, govern the country, and bring peace to the world", such as Qu Yuan, who did not forget the survival of the State of Chu even when he was exiled, and Wen Tianxiang, who "kept his honest heart according to history". It has distinctive practical use value for culture and education, casts the high quality character of Chinese culture, is the spiritual sustenance of gathering the energy of the Chinese nation, and is the strong driving force to promote the great rejuvenation of Chinese culture.

3.2 Promote core values and shape correct three views

The socialist core values are excellent traditional culture, reflecting the trend of the country, social development, the value pursuit of the people and the overall goal. Great thinkers have clearly put forward the political principle of "valuing the people over god". Confucianism inherits and develops this precious thought, forming the political proposition of "people-oriented". The ideological education and moral education in the excellent traditional Chinese culture can effectively edify the sentiment of college students and edify their minds. By cultivating the ability to distinguish truth from falsehood and noble sentiment, the words and deeds of college students can be standardized, so that they can learn to use scientific thinking analysis and solve problems. Legal system is a kind of social code of conduct re-established outside the moral constraint, which is guaranteed to be implemented by the state compulsion force, and no one can go beyond the constraint of law. For example, in political thought education, teachers use the essence of charity left by ancient saints to interpret, so that students can feel the importance of charity and care for the country and others through charity. It emphasizes the moral spirit of self-cultivation and the moral concept of practice, and advocates improving the internalization of individual moral quality by means of "introspection", "prudence" and "repetition", so as to restrict, standardize and perfect individual moral accomplishment.

4. Conclusions

The integration of Chinese excellent traditional culture into political thought education in institution of higher learning highlights three values -- enriching educational resources, shaping the correct three views and resisting multi-culture. Good family family education contains rich moral resources and has the function of educating people. Integrating it into college students' political thought education can not only enrich the content of college students' political thought education, but also help to inherit and develop excellent traditional Chinese culture. The discussion of "worry about the world first, and enjoy the world after" is very helpful to improve students' sense of social responsibility. All these contribute to the cultivation of sound personality of contemporary college students. In the new era, strengthening political thought education in institution of higher learning and organically integrating excellent Traditional Chinese culture into political thought education in institution of higher learning can not only promote the growth and renewal of excellent traditional Chinese culture, but also effectively improve the ideological and moral quality of contemporary college students and cultivate students' sound personality. In order to promote the smooth development of political thought education in institution of higher learning, the effective integration of good family family education and political thought education of college students can give full play to the role of traditional family family education.
