Abstract: The construction of a government ruled by law is a long-term task, which requires the joint participation of the society and unremitting efforts. In the process of building a legal system government, we need to integrate the socialist core values into it, realize the comprehensive combination of rule by virtue and rule, and promote the gradual deepening of the concept of rule by law. In order to promote the construction of a government in China, the General Office of the State Council issued in 2016 guidelines for incorporating socialist core values into the construction of a government, which clearly point out that ruling the country by law is an important guarantee and essential requirement of our socialist construction. Integrating socialist core values into the construction of a government needs to be fully embodied in all aspects of government supervision, administrative law enforcement and government decision-making, so as to ensure the implementation of the construction of legal system government.

The ideas of socialist core values originate from the socialist core value system, and the main ideological basis is Marxist thought, which is the guiding ideology of social development in China. At present, with the rapid economic and social development in China, people's living standards have been significantly improved. At the same time, the polarization between the rich and the poor, the gap between urban and rural areas, environmental pollution and other issues are prominent, which seriously hinders the progress of the country. There is a downward trend in socialist cohesion and ideological attraction. Therefore, we need to vigorously develop the construction of socialist core value system. The construction of a government ruled by law is the foundation of the construction of a society ruled by law. Therefore, it is necessary to establish a perfect legal system and integrate it into the socialist core values so as to promote the construction and development of the system of governing the country by law in our country.

1. Overview of Socialist Core Values and the Construction of a legal system government

1.1 Basic Concepts of Socialist Core Values

On the basis of summing up and analyzing historical experience, our Party clearly puts forward the basic goal of building a prosperous, democratic and civilized socialist country in the Constitution.

At the present stage, China's economy is developing at a high speed, social transformation is accelerating, various ideologies are becoming more and more diversified, the choice of values is richer and richer, and national construction and governance are facing new tasks and challenges. For this reason, the 18th National Congress of the CPC clearly put forward the socialist core values, which include patriotism, dedication, integrity, friendliness, prosperity, democracy and civilization. harmony, freedom, equality, justice and the rule of law should be actively practiced throughout the country to form a good social atmosphere. The socialist core values mainly include three different levels: the state, the society and the people. The content at the national level is civilization, harmony, prosperity and democracy, the content at the social level is freedom, rule of law, equality and justice, and the content at the people level is friendliness, honesty, patriotism and dedication. The socialist core values system is the collective consciousness demand of social development in our country. It is the basis of the combination of the achievements of human civilization and our traditional culture.

It has the functions of social integration and value construction. It can agglomerate all groups of people in our country and promote the all-round development of our economy and society.

1.2 The construction of socialist core values and the rule of law government

The rule of law is the best model of modern state governance, an important foundation of social civilization, and can reflect the universal value of the people. Rule of law is also an important guarantee of values. Rule of law can effectively adjust the relationship between social and economic development and cultural relations, and make necessary penalties for illegal acts. To integrate socialist core values into the construction of a government ruled by law, we need to use laws and relevant policies and regulations to convey correct values to the society, and through effective supervision of the judiciary, ensure the implementation effect, and ensure the continuous improvement of the construction level of a government ruled by law. Socialist market economy belongs to the rule of law economy in essence. Harmonious society has the same basic concept as the rule of law society. In order to build a rule of law China, we need to use socialist core values to rally the strength of the people of the whole country, improve the awareness of social responsibility, rule of law and state awareness, so that the whole society can establish correct values. A prosperous, civilized, democratic and harmonious modern China should be an honest and trustworthy country, living and working in peace and contentment. Integrating socialist core values into the construction of a government ruled by law is an important measure to cultivate and build a country governed by law, which deserves in-depth study.

2. The Main Role of Socialist Core Values in the Construction of a legal system government

2.1 The socialist core value concept is the basis of the construction of a legal system government

The construction of a government ruled by law requires that public servants possess the concept of rule of law and establish the idea that law is greater than power. With the development of our society, the government officials regard the new idea of serving the people wholeheartedly, governing for the people, and serving the people as their main personal pursuit and basic values, and the style of official departmentalism has been improved to a certain extent [3]. At the same time, there are still some government officials who abuse their powers, lack legal awareness, and rely too much on personal subjective consciousness in the process of dealing with government public affairs, which seriously violates the basic spirit of the rule of law and the rule of law. Therefore, in the process of building a government ruled by law, we need to take the socialist core values as the basic concepts, firmly establish the sense of rule of law, make use of the main criteria of the most daily work of law, regularize our own behavior at all times, and avoid replacing the individual consciousness with the law to deal with various affairs of government departments. At the same time, the construction of a government ruled by law also requires the participation of all citizens. Government departments need to strengthen publicity efforts to make the people understand the law, actively support national laws and regulations, know how to use legal weapons to safeguard their legitimate rights and interests, encourage the people to supervise the illegal activities of the government, and promote the construction and development of a legal system government.

2.2 Socialist core values can enhance the cohesion of the construction of a legal system government

Socialism belongs to the basic category of ideology and values, and it is also an effective impetus to carry out relevant practical activities. To put the construction of a government ruled by law into practice, government departments need to take active action to use the socialist core values to rally the strength of the people of the whole country and promote the rapid development of our society. Socialist core values are values that meet the needs of the development of the times. They need to be deeply understood by the people and applied to their daily practice. They should firmly establish the sense of rule of law and standardize their basic behavior. To improve the construction of a legal system government, the socialist core values need the people to establish legal awareness, improve the understanding of the legal system, and use the rule of law to restrain the government's behavior. Government officials need to strengthen the study and research of legal knowledge and apply socialist core values to their daily work, so as to enhance the motive force of building a legal system government and form a consensus on the behavior of the government and the people.

2.3 The socialist core values provide value consensus for the construction of a legal system government

Socialist core values can provide value orientation for society and lead social fashion. Socialist core values include the people, society and the state. In the social level, the rule of law is the most important concept. Therefore, the socialist core values can be used as a direct guide for the construction of a government ruled by law. At present, with the rapid development of our economy and the gradual improvement of people's living standards, at the same time, the problems of weak economic growth, aging population and increasing gap between the rich and the poor are prominent. Therefore, we need to carry out in-depth reform, solve the problems existing in the social system, continuously promote the construction of a government ruled by law, use the weapons of law to remove obstacles, and establish a legal system government that meets the needs of the people.

3. Ways to Integrate Socialist Core Values into the Construction of a legal system government

Integrating the socialist core values into the construction of a legal system government, requires actively practicing the socialist core values from different angles, accurately handling the relationship between the rule of law and the socialist core values, solving the problems in the process of social transformation with law and education, and realizing the coordinated development of the two.

3.1 Upholding the leadership of the Communist Party

Marxist theory holds that the state is the fundamental driving force for the formation of the legal system, and the legal system can accurately reflect the will of the state. The legal system of socialist countries can effectively safeguard the basic interests of the working class, but also safeguard the interests of other classes. At the same time, the rule of law can improve the stability of the state power. Therefore, the ruling party needs to make overall arrangements for the process of the rule of law in the country, and grasp the initiative and leadership of the rule of law work. The core of socialist rule of law with Chinese characteristics is the leadership of the Party, the theory of socialist rule of law with Chinese characteristics, and the socialist system with Chinese characteristics. Ruling the country by law is the basic national policy of our country and the main strategic policy of the Party in governing the country. The socialist core values fully embody the Party's spiritual pursuit and basic values, and the Party's goal of struggle. Therefore, the integration of socialist core values into the construction of a government ruled by law requires adherence to the leadership of the Party. The core factor of building a government ruled by law is the Communist Party of China. The leadership of the Party can ensure that the government ruled by law is in the right direction, and at the same time can achieve the overall overview of the task of building a government ruled by law. The guideline for the construction of a government ruled by law clearly points out that in the construction of a government ruled by law, it is necessary to adhere to the combination of governing the country by law and governing the country by virtue, actively change ideas, rationally deal with the interests of all parties, and ensure the smooth progress of the construction of a legal system government.

3.2 Incorporating Socialist Core Values into the Legal System

With the development of economy and society, China's legal system has gradually improved. At present, the Constitution has been formed as the core and various legal systems as the backbone of the legal system. The content of the legal system has gradually improved, covering all areas of social life, and the rule of law has a sufficient institutional basis. With the change of social and economic situation, the legislature has strengthened the revision and adjustment of the legal system. In the process of formulating the legal system, it is necessary to add the socialist core values into the legal system, provide the necessary institutional guarantee for the practice of socialist core values, make it rise from moral norms to legal systems, and promote the smooth progress of the construction of a legal system government.

In the political rights of the government, decision-making is an extremely important right. The decision-making of government departments is related to the vital interests of the people. In order to ensure the democracy of decision-making, it is necessary to integrate the socialist core values into the decision-making of the government. In the process of decision-making, the government departments need to take the interests of the people as the core to ensure that the people's personal interests are not lost. In the early stage of decision-making and in the process of decision-making, they need to strictly follow the principles of democracy. In the process of government law enforcement, we also need to integrate socialist core values to ensure the fairness of law enforcement. In the process of government law enforcement, we also need to integrate socialist core values to ensure the fairness of law enforcement.

3.3 Improving the moral accomplishment and the comprehensive quality of the rule of law of government officials

Government officials represent the image of the government, and their daily behavior directly determines the level of practice of socialist core values, as well as the vital interests of the people. With the gradual deepening of the construction of the government ruled by law in China, the overall quality of public servants has been significantly improved, but there is still a certain gap with the actual requirements of the people. Therefore, scientific and effective measures should be taken to improve the overall quality of public servants, create a fair and just social environment, safeguard the legitimate rights and interests of the masses, and improve the well-being and sense of access of the people. In practical work, it is necessary to strengthen the supervision and management of government officials, give full play to the role of public opinion, establish an open supervision platform, and realize the effective interaction between society and government. Leading cadres are the key minority in government departments. In practical work, some leading cadres have weak legal awareness and do not have the concept of rule of law. Therefore, it is necessary to strengthen the guidance and management of leading cadres. Leading cadres at all levels need to take the socialist core values as the basis, establish the concept of rule of law, use the method of rule of law to solve problems, play a good leading role, constantly improve their ability to handle affairs according to law, actively study and study the law, and model compliance with the law. Establishing a responsibility system for the construction of a government ruled by law, taking the quality of the rule of law and the concept of the rule of law as the main criteria to measure the ruling level of leading cadres, and using the thinking mode of the rule of law to promote the gradual deepening of government reform and promote the gradual development of the construction of a legal system government.

3.4 Taking the socialist core values as the basic orientation

In the report of the Nineteenth National Congress of the Communist Party of China, the basic ideas of good law and good governance are clearly put forward, among which good law is the prerequisite. In the process of building a government ruled by law, we need to establish the basic idea of people-oriented, ensure that the people have the freedom to create wealth, and satisfy the people's yearning for a better life. In the legislative process, we need to fully investigate and study public opinion to ensure the full implementation and implementation of the legal system. According to the basic requirements of socialist core values, the legal system should be used to ensure that the behavior of government departments is fully restrained, and the basic principles of fairness and fairness should be used to promote the overall improvement of the level of the construction of a legal system government.

4. Conclusion

Ruling the country by law is the basic principle and policy for the development of our country in the new period. Therefore, we should actively promote the construction of a government ruled by law. The socialist core values are a highly summary of the social value orientation and the future development direction of our country. The application of socialist core values in the construction of a government ruled by law can standardize the daily behavior of government departments, improve social cohesion and clarify the development direction, which is of great significance to the progress of our society.
